Third Grade Visits Pioneer Farms

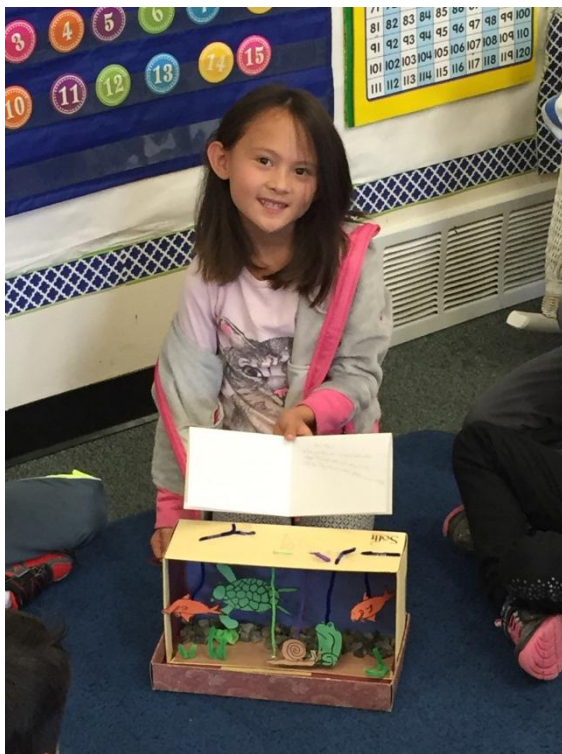

Our third graders experienced what life was like in the 1880's during their overnight field trip to Pioneer Farms this week. In this photo, two of our students learned what it was like to wash clothes by hand using a washboard and ringer.

First Graders Study World Habitats

These photos show dioramas our first graders created as a culmination of their study of world habitats. The students researched plants and animals of ocean, desert, rainforest and pond habitats and discussed how the flora and fauna in each environment depend on one another to survive. Each diorama the children constructed contains depictions of the plants, animals and landforms of the habitat they chose to represent.
